

A perennial favorite, our limited production Petite Sirah Port is produced from grapes grown on vines located on our estate vineyard. The 2008 Port is a full bodied wine, layered with blueberry/blackberry fruit with a hint of dark chocolate. The fruit was harvested in late October at the early stages of raisining when the rich, dark berry characteristics develop. About three fourths of the way through fermentation, the wine is "knocked" with aged Germain-Robin brandy to halt the fermentation and preserve the residual grape sugar. The bottles are hand dipped to protect the natural cork closure. A perfect wine for after dinner with cheese or chocolate or for sipping in front of the fire on a cold wintry evening or enjoy with a wonderful holiday dinner. Our Port should please for the next 10-15 years.
